

ISUMA PRESENTS NEW PROJECT: SILAKUT LIVE FROM THE FLOE EDGE

Posted by MUSKRAT Magazine | Date: May 07, 2019

IGLOOLIK, NUNAVUT—Isuma, the artist collective led by Zacharias Kunuk, is proud to present a new work, Silakut Live from the Floe Edge, created as part of Isuma's exhibit at the Canada Pavilion at the 58th Biennale Arte 2019 in Venice, Italy, and broadcast live from Nunavut to global audiences.

Isuma will broadcast Silakut Live from the Floe Edge from May 8–11, 2019 online at isuma.tv/live

Each broadcast will include footage filmed live from north Baffin Island and will include conversations with Igloolik hunting families on the impact and benefits of proposed mining expansion in the region.

Broadcast Schedule: Silakut Live from the Floe Edge

May 8 – 10, 2019:

AM: 10 am – noon EDT

PM: 6 pm – 8 pm EDT

May 11, 2019

Noon – 5 pm EDT

Presented by the National Gallery of Canada, Isuma's exhibit at the Canada Pavilion in Venice runs from May 11 – November 24, 2019. This is the first presentation of art by Inuit in the Canada Pavilion, and coincides with the United Nations' International Year of Indigenous Languages.

For more information about Isuma, Silakut Live, and the Venice Biennale, please visit www.isuma.tv